Terms and condition

By listing products for sale on our website, you agree to the following terms and conditions. You must provide accurate product information and pricing, maintain professionalism in communication with buyers, and fulfill orders promptly. Prohibited items and activities are not allowed. You're responsible for shipping and returns according to your policies. Any fees associated with using the website must be paid on time. We may terminate your account for violations. We have the right to modify these terms, and your continued use implies acceptance. Our liability is limited, and disputes are subject to our jurisdiction. For more details, please refer to our complete terms and conditions.
